Fine Meeting Of Pear Growers

Fatal Accident Occurs At Railroad Crossing Last Sunday

Auspicious Opening Of New Club House At Boyes Springs

W. E. MEEDER GROUND TO PIECES BY S. P. TRAIN

Motorist Fails to See Danger Ahead and Dies as Northbound Train Strikes Automobile.

Last Sunday morning as W. E. Meeder, foreman of the Grace Brothers' Ranch near El Verano was coming to Sonoma to attend religious services, his auto was struck by a Southern Pacific train at the crossing near the H. F. Bates ranch, and Mr. Meeder was instantly killed. The auto was caught by the engine as the driver attempted to swing his car from the crossing in the direction the train was traveling and was carried 250 yards along the right of way. Eye witnesses declare that Meeder was driving rapidly toward town, evidently late for church, and was so engrossed in thought that he failed to heed the approaching train until almost upon it. The track is clearly visible but the unfortunate victim of the tragedy evidently did not realize that he was at the crossing until too late.

The Chevrolet car he was driving was struck and caught up by the engine in such a way that it was dragged a long ways and its driven frightfully mangled. After the train stopped and Deputy Coroner Bates arrived it took over half an hour to extricate the remains of the unfortunate man from the wreckage. His identity was established by the Bible which he was carrying with him to services. He was not affiliated with any of the local churches, but worshipped with a little group of sectarians which have been meeting in the community for some time past.

Coroner Frank Phillips came over Monday and held an inquest, the verdict being accidental death.

William Eldin Meeder was a native of Illinois, aged 64 years, and is survived by his widow, Annie Meeder, and the following children: Mrs. I. McCormack, Ruby, Jessie, Alice, Willard, Pearl and Roy Meeder, and two brothers, Frank and J. M. Meeder. Deceased came to Sonoma about five years ago and assumed charge of the Grace ranch. He was highly by all who knew him, and the family has the deepest sympathy of the community in its sorrow at his untimely passing.

CHESTER HORN WINNER IN THE NEWS CONTEST

Chester Horn was adjudged the winner of the first prize in the news writing contest for the Index-Tribune, in which nine high school students of the class of journalism competed last term. The judges, Mrs. George Leiser, A. R. Grinstead and W. B. Rundschu, decided the $5 prize had been won by Horn, wih Donald Cundiff and Emil Peterson second and third best. They were presented with savings banks in the replica of a book through the courtesy of F. M. Burris and Mr. Baccaglio of the Mercantile Trust Company.

The many friends of Mrs. R. Hotz regret her illness the past week. She has had a severe cold, with Dr. A. M. Thomson in attendance.

Police Staged Thriller Here On Wednesday

A shrill police whistle, followed by a wild chase after a "thief" in which several uniformed officers participated, startled the high school assembly hall at the Pear Growers' luncheon on Wednesday. Many thought the dry squad had arrived and was on the trail of a school bootlegger. Others believed the dried fruit men were suspected of overstepping the half of one per cent mark and were to be run in. Few recognized genial Garnet Holme, perpetrator of the plot to advertise the comedy, "Stop Thief" although Holme in uniform was in the vanguard after the "thief." The comedy cop was Dill Oliva, a guest at Ciucci's, who made a decided hit. Oliva would have done credit to Dill of Kolb & Dill fame, and Charlie Chaplin couldn't have done it better. It was a great stunt, as all at the Pear Growers' meeting will attest.

FAIR SONOMA GIRL TO WED IN BERKELEY

Miss Verna Quartaroli and Harold L. Green, who took out a license to wed in Sonoma county, and then changed their minds did not change their minds about the wedding bells, but decided they had better ring out in the college town of Berkeley today, instead of in the Valley of the Moon as contemplated early in the week. This accounted for the flurry they created in the City of Roses by getting a license at the midnight hour and then phoning the following day that they did not want the license.

Miss Quartaroli, the pretty bride to be, explained that her fiance was a senior law student of U. C., and has all his friends in Berkeley. His folks who are Los Angeles people, will be up from the South today so instead of asking their blessing after the ceremony they decided to haev all present when the knot is tied, hence the change in the plans.

It appears that Green, fearing the beautiful Sonoma belle would change her mind after promising to be his wife, hurried her to the county seat, where an obliging member of County Clerk Felt's office left his bed and issued them a license. Later they decided on the Berkeley plan and will now secure an Alameda license, as is required by law.

Miss Angelina Marmori and Stanley Barnes will be bridesmaid and best man.

Verna Quartaroli is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli, formerly of the El Dorado Hotel. She is a petite and vivacious girl, extremely popular with the younger set, and is a graduate of a San Francisco business college. Her fiance comes from a prominent southern California family and will take his degree in law college next year.

The couple plan to live in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Tierney have sold their property on West Napa street to W. Miller and will move into town where Mr. Tierney has a position with A. L. Monotti.

Fruit Men's Convention Marked By Splendid Program At High School

Sonoma and the Sonoma Valley Union High School can well feel proud of this year's convention of the pear growers, held under the auspices of tht California Pear Growers' Association Wednesday at the high school. The attendance, both of local people, visitors and speakers, was beyond the expectation of the committees. Despite this fact, the crowd was well taken care of in the spacious assembly rooms of Sonoma's fine new high school building, where the sessions were held, and in the auditorium, where an elaborate luncheon was served by the school's domestic science class with service and courtesy equal to that of professional caterers.

The morning session convened at 10 o'clock, the meeting being opened by Henry C. Hyde, chairman of the day. Professor L. H. Golton, of the nigh school, greeted the pear growers, assuring them of the co-operation which the school was glad to give, and stressing the proud responsibility which the students were called upon to assume on this occasion. He graciously presented the keys of the school and its various departments to the Pear Growers' Association, and bade the visitors welcome.

H. A. Weinland was the next speaker on the morning's program. As Sonoma county's farm advisor, he spoke on the value of pollinization of pears and illustrated his talk with lantern slides on this phase of pear growing.

O. E. Bremner, horticultural commissioner of Sonoma county, described the pests to which the pear is liable and as a result the need for stringent quarantine laws.

P. J. Huth's subject was "Grower As Shipper." Mr. Huth is vice president of the California Pear Growers' Association.

The most interesting talk of the morning was that of Frank T. Swett, president and manager of the association, who reviewed the association's accomplishments at length and greatly enlightened the growers as to various phases of the pear growing industry. Mr. Swett discussed the variability of prices, reason therefore and the necessity for quality fruit in order to build up the industry. He declared that too high prices resulted in a break in the market and invariably reacted on the growers the following season. If the housewife does not feel she can buy the fruit because of too high a price and it remains on the shelves, low growers' prices are certain to follow as a result of a holding over of the pack, declared Mr. Swett. He reviewed the advertising

Players Make Hit In First Performance of "Stop Thief"

That Sonoma Valley appreciates good dramatics was apparent at the high school Thursday night, when the auditorium was filled with an enthusiastic audience to witness Garnet Holme's production of "Stop Thief." The play "went over" big and first nighters are already declaring that Sonoma has players far more clever than we realize, for the entire cast acquitted itself with honor and carried the play through with an eclat seldom equalled by amateurs.

The performance was notably a triumph when it is explained that the leading lady, Mrs. Ida Hotz (Mrs Carr) became ill, and that Mrs. Carrie Burlingame, understudy, took the role at almost the eleventh hour and with but a few rehearsals.

Mrs. Burlingame as the deaf old society lady, mother of the bride who is to be married on the day when mysterious thievery begins in her home, displayed much talent.

Joan Carr her youngest daughter, was played by pretty Nevada Schell with much chic and enthusiasm. The part of Caroline Carr, another daughter, was taken by Gladys Dodge, who made the most of her role throughout and enabled the audience to grasp every essential of the scenes of which she was a principal. Mrs. Mildred Golton, as Madge Carr, was a beautiful bride, girlish and vivacious. She spoke her lines clearly and played a good opposite to her mother and to her betrothed, James Cluney (Ralph Hotz). Nell Clements, as Nell, the lady's maid and thief's accomplice, was sprightly and with Spencer Merz as Doogan, the thief, kept her audience under high tension from the time she appeared until the curtain fell. Spencer Merz registered one of the big hits of the production. His portrayal of Jack Doogan left nothing to be desired. In the third act he rose to the climax like a professional and as he held the police at bay with his gun, would have done credit to a Lytell or a Blinn.

A. R. Grinstead, as William Carr, the eccentric, doddering, absent minded head of the house, proved a true comedian and played the character part in a manner which won him the applause of the evening. Dal Emparan was positively handsome as the minister.

James Cluney, the bridegroom who, unnerved by the mysterious occurrences on his wedding day, comes to believe that he is a kleptomaniac, was splendidly played by Ralph Hotz, who carried the role through with a realism that gripped the audience throughout the three acts. His scenes with A. R. Grinstead revealed the master hand of the director, as did many other scenes of the comedy.

Al Luchsinger as Dr. Willoughby, in love with Joan, was very well done. Robert Stanleigh, as Mr. Jamison, evidenced real flashes of dramatic talent. The police, Vic Erlebach, Dino Viviani, Dick Murphy and H. Raffetta, made a fine stage picture in their uniforms. Garnet Holme, himself, as police sergeant, and W. L. Murphy as Detective Thompson, both victims of the thief despite their status and cleverness, were good roles well played.

The entire performance, its thrilling climax and happy ending was one of Sonoma's greatest successes and will be repeated tonight.

A Once Famous Musician Joins The Immortals

Michael Hillweber, for many years a member of the orchestra at the Sonoma State Home, died last week, aged 71 years. Hillweber was a violinist and true artist. The old musician had been a member of Gilmore's Band, and alto soloist with Sousa. When old age came, he was unable to longer hold the proud place he had filled in the musical world, for his memory failed and he became somewhat childish. Then it was that friends interceded for his commitment to Eldridge. He brought his beloved violin with him, a beautiful, rare, old instrument and his only possession. For years he played with the State Home orchestra and was highly regarded by the leader, Professor Schieck, and everyone at the institution. The band played at his funeral Saturday. His violin is to be sent to an only sister in the East.

HENRY CALDERWOOD IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Henry Edward Calderwood, who had been a well known resident and property owner of Sonoma since the early eighties, died at the Burnsdale sanitarium last Saturday following a short illness.

Deceased was a native of the state of Maine, where he was born February 18, 1848. He is survived by an only daughter, Miss Gertrude Calderwood, of San Francisco.

Mr. Calderwood was twice married, his first wife being the late Belle Neal, a sister of Mrs. William Trudgen. After her death he married Sophia Kopetski, mother of his surviving daughter. The second wife, who was a prominent Sonoma club woman, preceded her husband to the Great Beyond some years ago.

Mr. Calderwood was a good citizen, kind and obliging neighbor and despite his affliction, extreme deafness, was always cheerful and optimistic. He was exceedingly active for his years and his daily presence in and around town will be greatly missed by the community.

The funeral took place Sunday from the M. E. church, his friend and neighbor, Rev. S. E. Crowe, officiating at the last sad rites. Cremation was at Mt. Olivet in San Mateo county Monday.

Besides the daughter, a brother in the East survives deceased.

Mr. Calderwood, who left Sonoma property to the value of several thousand dollars, made no will, but his daughter, sole heir at law, has petitioned the court to administer on the estate.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. L. W. Langley of Kentfield was severely cut about the hands when the machine in which she was riding went over an embankment near Schellville, and overturned. Dr. A. K. McGrath took several stitches on the back of Mrs. Langley's hand. She was the olny one hurt.

SENATOR SLATER DELIVERS A FINE DEDICATION SPEECH

Old Time Crowd Throngs Popular Resort's New Community Center Last Saturday Night.

Not far from the former site of the old Boyes Springs theatre there has arisen a new community center for the new Boyes Springs, the new club house of the Boyes Springs Improvement Club, which was dedicated last Saturday in the presence of a crowd of well wishers such as Boyes has not seen met together since the old days before the fire of 1923.

The club house, agleam with lights, with cars parked everywhere around it, the new state highway before its doors, the interior of the building itself festive and inviting, reflected the new era to which the club confidently looks forward. By 8 o'clock the crowd was so large that standing room was at a premium, for from every part of Sonoma Valley, and from distant parts came well wishers and property owners to show by their presence and patronage that they desire to co-operate with Boyes Springs and its new upbuilding.

The ladies of the reception and refreshment committees wore festive crepe paper caps and an atmosphere of cordial welcome was apparent on every side. Music by Les Perkins' jazz kings started off the evening's program and the speakers of the evening including President John Main, Rev. Isaac ookman, Rev. J. F. Byrne, Hon. Herbert Slater and Master of Ceremonies Daubin were seated on the platform.

The inimitable Eddie Healy was up from San Francisco and contributed a lot of clever stories and songs to the program, which were received with the greatest applause. The offerings of the children who danced Stella May Hewitt and Mayme Soito, were great hits, a number of different dances, all beautifully costumed, being executed on the main floor of the auditorium. Beth Corcoran, Freda Kruschwitz and Francis Hewitt sang in pleasing chorus.

Mayme Soito's solo was also a hit, the little cabaret star wearing a green costume with chic French hat, and singing to her audience with much vivacity and cleverness.

After an invocation and congratulation by Rev. Father Byrne, popular pastor of St. Francis church, there was a splendid address by Rev. Isaac Cookman of Sonoma, who prophesied great advancement for the community of Boyes Springs, with its natural attractions and advantages. Mr. Cookman urged co-operation and a spirit of willingness to do and act for the community which would be reflected in the community itself and its citizenship.

Chairman John Main outlined the history of the club house and of the building committee's progress. He proved a witty and interesting speaker and stressed the obligations that the club had assumed on its small start of $80, which was the nucleus of the club house fund. Mr. Main gave due credit to all who were assisting and had assisted the plan of the club to own its own home, in-

A Weekly Chat With Our Patrons

RUNNING a motion picture theatre is not the easiest job in the world, if one is sincere and desires to give his patrons the very best pictures. And so when we get a really and truly worth while production, something we feel you will not want to miss, we take this means of calling your particular attention to it. Such pictures as Edne Ferber's pathetic character study, "So Big," and Zane Grey's Western thriller, "The Thundering Herd," which we are offering for your approval this week are well worth giving up an evening to see. We have read the criticisms of many leading critics on these two prodrctions and they all, without exception, consider them among the finest and most interesting pictures of the season. Of course, we know that what appeals to one, in any kind of entertainment, may not appeal to another, but in being "backed up" by good reviews on both pictures, we feel sure they will please most folks 100 per cent.

TO BE HELD IN SONOMA

We, whose homes and whose business and social interests arehere in Sonoma have chosen this community because we prefer it in most cases to the larger city. We have no desire to make this another New York or Chicago—but we are united in our ambition to build here a community of character. The achievement of this worthy ambition depends upon our specifications and materials.

FRIENDSHIP for our neighbors and follow-citizens, and the spirit that helps us to do the other fellow a good turn.

HONOR in dealing withour fellow men, prompting us to hand out the square deal to all instead of the double cross.

EDUCATION for our children through good schools and churches. A wholesome home life teaching us all a better appreciation of the finer things of life.

AMBITION, not alone for wealth and financial independence, but to keep our hearts free from any taint of envy, selfishness or ill will. This is a safe guarantee for a fine community.

CO-OPERATION is the backbone of community progress. Let's pull together in all things good, remembering that one prospers as those about him prosper.

LET'S COMPLETE COUNTY HIGHWAYS FIRST

Some time ago this County voted into being a county system of highways and voted bonds for the construction of those highways.

The system was established by an overwhelming vote. The work on the highways was begun. But before the roads could be completed the funds gave out and many of the roads are still incomplete.

The question now arises: How are the roads to be constructed? The system has been established and it would seem to be the duty of the supervisors to find means to complete them. The only available source from which funds can be derived for this purpose is the general fund of the County. This general fund is supposed to be distributed among the various road districts; in equal amounts for each district. This is being done at the present time, at least ostensibly. But in reality it will not be done if certain proposals are carried out.

Road districts are in contemplation on the following plan: The district itself is to vote funds for the construction of roads in that district and for every $2 raised in this way the supervisors are to be asked to contribute $1 from the general fund.

After this is done the apportionment from the general fund would be made as previously for the upkeep and construction of the county roads in each district.

In each district where a special tax had been levied to be matched by the $1 for every $2 a portion of the general fund would be contributed to that district, over and above what that district would receive from the general fund. This would mean that this kind of district would receive more than its share of the general fund set aside for road purposes.

In other words, a certain portion of each supervisorial district's supposedly equal share from the general fund would be taken away from it and given to the district in which the special road district had been formed and put into operation.

This, it would seem, is not in line with the express wishes of the people when they voted for the county system. That system should be completed first, not only because the people have wished it so, but because justice demands that each district receive an equal amount of the general funds for the construction of permanent roads on the county highway plan.

If all the districts throughtout the county were in position to vote a special district fund to be matched by the supervisors in proportion of two to one, then there would be no discrimination, but unfortunately there are many districts that cannot afford to do this. And these poorer districts would be deprived of their fair share of the general fund by every district formed on the special plan. —Petaluma Argus.

MRS. RICHARDS PUTS PROPERTY ON MARKET

Mrs. Kate Richards and son, Tom, have returned to Agua Caliente and while here Mrs. Richards will subdivide and market her beautiful tract of land in the foothills above the state highway. The lots are picturesquely located in the heart of Sonoma Valley and will make ideal sites for country homes. They are within a few minutes walk of the famous Agua Caliente mineral springs and have many other advantages.

Mrs. Richards plans to put roads through the property and will sell 50 foot lots on easy terms.

The Richards family formerly owned all of the Agua Caliente Springs property and built the present handsome stone hotel now owned by Tom Corcoran.

The property to be marketed was retained by Mrs. Richards, but she has decided to sell that, also. For further particulars, see ad.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF NEW CLUB HOUSE

cluding Rev. Father Byrne, who was not found wanting when called on for his support and good will.

The introduction of Hon. Herbert Slater, who delivered the dedicatory address, was the signal for hearty applause.

After complimenting the Boyes Springs Improvement Club on its proud achievement, Senator Slater reviewed the glorious past history of Sonoma Valley that led along El Camino Real to our Mission City, the Mission blazing a trail of religion and civilizing influences into this beautiful country where now we see community club houses rising as the temples of usefulness and shrines of happiness in this favored section. The speaker dwelt on the good fellowship which inspired such work as the club house building and declared such evidence of co-operation and good citizenship presaged opportunities little dreamed of. In the name of friendship, progess and happiness, he dedicated the Boyes Springs Improvement Club house.

Mayor Minges and Mrs. Kiessling then led the way for the dance lovers, dancing being promptly inaugurated and continuing until a late hour.

The refreshment booths to which a bounteous lot of good eats had been contributed by the best cooks of Boyes Springs, dispensed coffee, cake and sandwiches throughout the evening and other concessions were liberally patronized.

The dedication ceremonies and festivities were declared by all present to have been one of the finest affairs ever given at the Springs and congratulations and good wishes were showered upon the club and its officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norrbom and family have moved from El Verano to their new service station home and their former place is being ocupied by Mr. and Mrs. H. Rafetta.

FOR TEN YEARS—DEPENDABLE

Exceptional dependability has been a characteristic of Dodge Brothers Motor Car since the day the first of these sturdy cars was marketed.

Not once in a decade has it failed to uphold and enhance its reputation for faithful performance.

The reason for its consistent goodness and continued betterment points directly back to the ideals of the founders.

Instead of fluctuating between an endless series of annual models, they determined to concentrate on the perfection of a single chassis.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car today is the embodiment of that ideal—an ideal that will endure as long as the institution itself.

High School News

By ANGELO SIGNORELLI

On Wednesday, March 4th, the pear growers of lower Sonoma county held their third annual banquet at the high school, where they discussed the prospects of this year's crop and many other questions. During the banquet the growers were presented with the key to the high school by Professor L. H. Golton; Mrs. A. D. L. Hamilton sang a few songs, accompanied by Miss Grace Barr, and the high school orchestra played several selections. This banquet was served by the domestic science class under the supervision of Miss Edythe Olsen. It is the greatest undertaking of its kind of any class in this school. The girls chose their own committees and went at it with the greatest interest. Their menu consisted of cream of chicken soup with rice, celery, California baked ham, browned potatoes, buttered peas, pear sauce, ripe olives, salted wafers, jelly, pear cake, ice cream, hot rolls and coffee.

A radio set was installed in the high school for the United States history class and the civics class to listen in on President Coolidge's inaugural address, on which the members of these classes were required to give reports. It proved to be a very successful experiment, and the set will greatly help the students in their studies.

The Senior class was given a delightful "feed" Friday afternoon by the Board of Control for being the first—and only—class to subscribe 100 per cent for the school paper. his clas is always the first to turn out 100 per cent in all the drives or other undertakings of that nature and its members are always the first to cooperate with the teachers and Student Body officers. If the rest of the classes would do likewise, Sonoma Hi would be the best school in the state.

The tennis sharks are preparing for the spring games and expect to add another pennant to Sonoma Hi's credit.

The high school will give an entertainment in the near future, particulars of which will be announced at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Busby and nine weeks old baby son were up from Berkeley Sunday. Ralph is a very proud daddy.

SONOMA VALLEY SHARED WONDERFUL RADIO FEAT

Sonoma Valley tuned in on the inaugural ceremonies at Washington, D. C., and with the rest of the country shared the marvelous feat which was accomplished when President Calvin Coolidge's speech was heard around the world.

Listeners in were not unmindful of the great progress science is making and it was freely predicted that before long science will find a way for us to see far distant events as well as to hear them.

The United States Military Band was heard to great advantage and from the time they played Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance March" until President Coolidge had concluded his comprehensive, honest message to his fellow Americans, the entire program came in clear and every word heard as distinctly as though the President had been speaking on our public square.

The children of the grammar school and their teachers heard the inauguration ceremonies through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Burmester, who loaned their radio set for the event. A. J. Martinson equipped the high school with one of his fine sets, so that young America in Sonoma Valley might hear the thirtieth president of the United States and long remember it.

M. PIERCE DIED WEDNESDAY

Maylond Pierce of East Napa street, who had been a resident of Sonoma Valley for the past 15 years passed away at his home here Wednesday, aged 75 years. Deceased was born in Quebec, Canada, and was a contractor and builder. He followed his trade after coming here, and leaves several nice buildings as a monument to his craft.

Three years ago Mr. Pierce began to fail in health and his death was not unexpected. Funeral services will be at the Adventists' church in Buena Vista today (Saturday).

A widow and three sons and two daughters mourn this good husband and kindly father.

VIRGINIA LOWELL'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

An event of last week was the 10th birthday anniversary of little Miss Virginia Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowell, who gave her a lovely party, with decorations in the patriotic color scheme of George Washington's birthday, also an event on the February calendar. The decorations of red, white and blue were carried out throughout the lovely home, while the table was resplendent with flags, red candles and little favors, such as cherry trees and hatchets. The place cards were George and Martha Washington emblems, bon-bons were red- white and blue, and there were little logs filled with candied cherries at each place to further carry out the idea.

Many interesting games and contests preceded the bounteous birthday feast which included a handsome birthday cake illuminated by candles. Prizes were won by Eileen Merz and Dorothy Egbert.

The following young folks participated bestowing congratulations and a number of nice gifts on the little hostess:

Virginia Lowell, Patricia Golton, Eileen Merz, Dorothy Egbert, Alice Francis, Barbara Knight, Frances Barr, Maxine Hunter, Margaret and Frances Cereghino, Mleba VanDine, Florence Robin, Elizabeth Casson, June Picetti, Mary Picetti, Aloise Prestwood and Lenore Clements.

FULLER COMPANY PLANS FOR HOME DECORATION

The 1925 advertising plans of W. P. Fuller & Company call for the use of more than 200 newspapers in the Pacific Coast and 11 Western states, one of the papers being the Sonoma Index-Tribune, according to an announcement made by K. L. Hamman, president of Johnston-Ayres Company, advertising agency of San Francisco.

"One of the chief topics of discussion at the recent meeting of W. P. Fuller & Company branch managers was the importance of color in the decoration of the home," Mr. Hamman said.

"The first impression of a house comes as one enters the front door into the hall—thus, nowhere in the entire house is it more important to strike the right keynote in furnishing and decorating. If there is no closet in the hall for wraps and umbrellas, it will be necessary to have in some obscure corner, a wooden strip painted the same color of the woodwork, in which are solid brass hooks placed low enough so that the young members of the family can reach them. Also there should be provided a plain pottery jar for umbrellas which will harmonize with the color scheme of walls and carpet."

Otis N. Johnson, manager of the sales promotion department of W. P. Fuller & Company offers a few suggestions as to the color scheme for various rooms. Mr. Johnson remarked "that the dining room should be one of the most cheerful and inspiring rooms of the house. It is the place here the family gathers to enjoy meals together and nothing insures a better start than having your breakfast in a bright, cheerful room."

"The strategic location of the Fuller branches," Mr. Johnson points out "permits any Fuller dealer to obtain paints or varnishes of a color not ordinarily carried in stock, within 24 hours from the receipt of the order. It assures the purchased of the widest possible selection, an dfrom the numerous expressions received from enthusiastic Fuller dealers indicates that this service is appreciated, not only by the dealer but by the paint purchaser as well.

"Inquiries from dealers on questions involving the use of paint are always welcome. This department is ever ready to co-operate with them in solving painting problems."

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ehlers of Eldridge gave a dancing party in honor of their son, Glenn Ehlers, who is to graduate from the high school this term. Their guests were classmates and friends of the young man, who is a popular student. The party took place at the new club house in Boyes Springs last night.

MRS. McELNEY VICTIM OF DARING ROBBERY

Mrs. James McElney, wife of a former Sonoma druggist and for several years past prominent in banking circles being among the prominent women bankers of San Francisco, was the victim of a daring bank robber at Burlingame Monday. Mrs. McElney, formerly with the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, recently accepted the position of teller at the Bank of Burlingame.

An account of the hold-up follows:

Mrs. I. McElney was greeted on her first day as teller in the Broadway branch of the Bank of Burlingame by six armed and masked men who entered at 1.15 o'clock Monday afternoon, commanded her and Charles Baker, another teller, to lie on the floor, and escaped with between $4000 and $5000 in currency.

While three held Baker and Mrs. McElney at bay the other three vaulted the seven foot wire cage and after commanding the pair to lie down on the floor, looted the tills.

Mrs. P. B. Fisk, who was in charge of a taxi office in the rear of the bank heard the command and telephoned the police.

The police arrived three minutes after the robbers had fled in a small touring car. Later the machine was found abandoned on the Skyline boulevard, near Millbrae. Police believe that the sextette had a second machine waiting for the final get away.

A man answering the description of one of the bandits was seen boarding a San Francisco bound street car at San Mateo. Policeman H. Bruhns gave chase. The car was searched at San Bruno but the man had escaped.

Secretary Elliot of the Chamber of Commerce has a letter from the N. W. P Railroad Company saying that a new depot will be built at Boyes Springs this summer.

FINE MEETING OF THE PEAR GROWERS

campaign which had been so instrumental in the success of the Pear Growers' Association and declared that one advertising appropriation of $18,000 more than compensated for that outlay. Demand and wider market for California Bartlett pears directly resulted.

After various questions, asked and answered, the session adjourned for lunch and it proved, indeed, to be a de luxe affair. Tables were set in the auditorium and pretty girls of the domestic science class of the high school in attractive yellow head dress served the fruit growers and their guests with a menu which was most excellent. The table favors were mammoth lithographed replicas of Bartlett pears on which were printed the menu and program.

Between courses, the high school orchestra, led by Lyle Campbell furnished high class music. There were also song numbers by Mrs. A. D. L. Hamilton, talented wife of the secretary of the state association, with Miss Barr as accompanist. Toastmaster Walter Bundschu presided in genial manner, calling on George H. Cassidy to respond to the toast, "the ladies," after which a community sing was inaugurated.

Oh, they grow all over the country,
But none of them can compare,
In flavor or in quality
With the California pear.

Group singing of this song resulted in the award of honors to Mr. Bundschu's own table, with Mr. Rose of Novato, as leader.

At 2 p. m., the convention resumed discussions and listened to some splendid talks by men prominent in the pear industry and its allied interests.

W. F. Duffy, of the French American Bank, San Francisco, declared it was the duty of the bank in a community to foster the growers' success by interesting or encouraging the growers to belong to the association, and to keep them in formed of market conditions. As the grower prospers, so wil. the community and its banks.

The canning industry was explained by F. R. Bellingall, secretary of the Pacific Coast Canning Company, who told of the vast amount of competition to which growers were subjected when their fruit got into the hands of the jobbers. High quality fruit must be raised, said the speaker, in order that the growers might command the best prices.

Wilmer Sieg, secretary of the California Fruit Distributors, proved the most entertaining talker of the afternoon. He described the three way distribution of fresh, canned and dried pears, each important to the industry's success. Mr. Seig estimates that 160,000 tons of pears will be used in 1925, of which 60,000 tons will go to the canners. He advocated the law licensing distributors and said California had so many fine distributing agencies that no grower should be caught by a "fly-by-night."

R. L. Magill discussed icing and refrigeration and reviewed the successful history and growth of the Pacific Fruit Express.

E. H. Norris talked on transportation, while Hinman Clark talked on advertising, both window display and newspaper.

The new method of treating fresh fruit so that it keeps for six months was described by Mr. Milani, who had letters attesting the success of the experiment after shipment to England.

The convention closed with marked enthusiasm and on all sides growers expressed themselves in the words of the song, "the more we get together, the better off we are." Sonoma Valley had a splendid representation of its most progressive fruit men present and the day in every way redounds to the credit of those who arranged and carried out its fine program.

The city trustees met Wednesday night and discussed the new fire engine. A Reo representative was present. The committee on subscriptions to the new engine reported progress. A new cross walk was authorized on Broadway near the Hoyer service station, and routine matters were attended to.

SHE'S STILL A "DAISY"

Daisy Simpson, one of prohibition's brightest lights and employee of Captain Charles Goff, of the booze brigade, in San Francisco, could not "do her stuff" in Sonoma Valley so well, for she is very well known here. From the days when, as an employee of ex-Senator Grant, she made her reputation here, she became known for her blonde hair, her raven tresses, her jazz make-up and her widow's weeds. She tried them all and sometimes got the goods, but she became so well known to Sonoma resort owners that they began to penetrate all her disguises.

Here is what San Francisco papers say of her latest activities:

So swiftly and cleverly does Daisy Simpson, undercover prohibition agent, operate, that unless they "find the woman," say peddlers of forbidden cheer, their business is gone.

No one knows her by sight. Her name is not on the prohibition enforcement payroll, and she never appears at headquarters. Yet singlehanded she has rounded up a dozen men in night raids in obscure quarters of the city, has confiscated thousands of dollars worth of liquor, and has driven the bootleggers, who until lately were divided into hostile camps into armed neutrality, in the common cause of hunting down a common enemy.

There is scarcely a day when a death threat intended for Miss Simpson is not received anonymously at prohibition headquarters, according to Charles Goff, in charge of operations in Northern California, under whom she works. Goff himself says he knows little about her.

"We know her as Daisy Simpson," said Goff, "but aside from the fact she is a professional actress, we know nothing else, not even her address."

That her disguises are myriad and vary as much as her modes of procedure ie apparent from a day's record of Miss Simpson's activities.

Always she plays a lone hand.

Garbed as a society women, calling on a fashionable bootlegger, in a limousine, she contracted for a choice assortment of liquors ostensibly intended for a society tea.

Again, she was a charwoman seeking a little nip.

On another occasion, she "vamped" a bootlegger into turning over the evidence.

"We can't get a line on her," complained one dealer in liquor whose turnover is reputed to be the largest in town. "We know she is getting us into trouble right along, but can't place a finger on her. We've stopped selling to women. Still the pinches go on. It's getting tough for us."

That was a few days ago. A night later, Miss Simpson raided a saloon lone-handed. There was a fight and three men attacked her when she revealed her identity as a federal agent. When the police arrived, she had the trio backed in a corner while she covered them with her revolver.

LAY PLANS FOR GRAPE TRAFFIC

Seven months ahead of the movement of California grapes to the New York markets, shippers, railroad associations, fruit handling companies and railway executives have initiated plans to handle the largest grape business in the history of the country.

California shippers recently wrote to New York asking what provisions would be made to handle the grapes this fall.

The district manager of the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association will again be in charge of the situation. A meeting of those nterested will be held in the next few months

The grape movement in August, September, October and November, 1924, was the largest in the history of the railroads. Until a few years ago, grapes were handles as a side line.

Last year more than 16,000 carloads were shipped to New York alone. This was equivalent to 32,000,000 pounds, it is estimated. One of the features of the growth in the traffic has been the shipments of juice grapes.

S. P. LOOKING FOR WINE CAR LOOTER

Officials of the Southern Pacific railroad are still baffled over the disappearance of a cargo of rare St. Helena wine which was shipped to Eastern points several months ago.

The loss of the wine was not discovered until the tank car arrived at its destination. It is believed that while the car was in one of the railroad yards it was tapped and the liquor siphoned from it.

Investigators have been working n all the yards of this state visited by the shipment, but so far have uncovered nothing.

RAIN INSURANCE BROUGHT $1000 TO FAIR

The Citrus Fair promoters at Cloverdale were foresighted enough to insure the attendance at the fair Sunday and Monday against the elements. Sunday's storm brought the promoters of the fair $1000 in rain insurance. Under the terms of the policy .10 of an inch had to fall between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. Although it rained every day of the fair season, Sunday was the only day in which the specified precipitation was recorded within the given period.

WILL NEGOTIATE WITH LUMBER MEN

Probably the greatest single achievment yet announced by the Save the Redwoods League is the raising of a fund in excess of $750,000, with which it is expected it will be possible to save the Dyerville Flats and a portion of Bull Creek Flat. These groves, located at Dyerville, in Humboldt county, near the northern limit of the present Humboldt State Redwood Park, are among the very finest in existence. The preservation of the Bull reek and Dyerville Flats is essential to the proper rounding out of the first unit of the Humboldt State Redwood Park.

The League has reached a satisfactory basis for negotiations with the Pacific Lumber Company, owners of these matchless tracts of redwoods, and through the mediation of Major David T. Mason, noted forestry expert, a plan is being worked out where by these areas will be preserved for park purposes, with assurance that the owners will receive a fair price for their timber and that the plan of preservation will involve the minimum inconveience to the company in its logging operations.

Family Pictures

In many instances, cannot be replaced. The likeness of grandparents—those old tin types of dad and mother—snaps of the children when they were babies—all are treasures in your home that money cannot buy.

Still, these pictures are usually tucked away in a bottom drawer, between the pages of an old book, in envelopes and other places where they become lost. And daily the newspapers tell us of homes burning without a thing being saved.

One each of your rare family pictures should be kept in your safe deposit box where it is protected from fire, carelessness and mishap.

GLEN ELLEN HAS FINE NEW BUILDING

The handsome two story concrete business and residence property erected at Glen Ellen by Mrs. Meglin to replace the building destroyed by fire some months ago, is a splendid improvement to the town and is now being occupied by the enterprising store keeper and her family. Mrs. Meglin is carrying a fine stock f merchandise and is assisted by her daughter, Miss Rose Bonvecchio and the latter's sister, Mrs. A. Gemini.

The lower floor plan of the building contains a fully equipped butcher shop and ice box, in addition to the grocery store department.

Mrs. Meglin, formerly of the London ranch, started business in a small way some years ago and by courtesy and honest business methods has built up a fine business. Her enterprise following the disastrous fire which destroyed her entire stock, and home is being widely commended by all.

WILL TAKE STEPS TO FORCE WORK

Property owners on West Napa street who complied with the city's edict to put in cement side walks fronting their property are indignant over the failure of three owners to make their improvement. They are planning steps to force this work and have the improvement completed.
